Acoustics

The Concrete Veneer can be foreseen with a small perforation pattern. Together with the perforated core board, increased acoustical comfort can be achieved.

All Concrete Veneer Tiles and Panels can be foreseen with NANO-perforation.

Note: The images should be used as an impression only. As concrete is a natural product, the colour, presence of cracks and other characteristics will vary between each panel.

Concrete Veneer

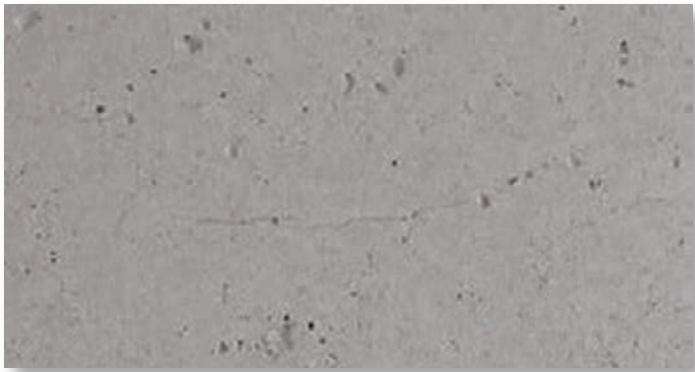

Typical concrete features

Shrinkage cavities, colour hues, fine cracks - features typical of concrete - are the hallmarks that set our Concrete Veneer apart. Once processed, it is undistinguishable from solid concrete. The look and touch are the same as 'real' concrete. Quality that you can see and feel in every last detail is what makes this product truly exceptional. Concrete as a lightweight panel for a wide range of interior design applications.

Shrinkage cavities

Typical air voids, deep structure, original aesthetics, a feature typical of concrete.

Hairline cracks

Occasional hairline cracks are typical of concrete.

Colour fluctuations

Random colouring takes place by the cement, various nuances are intended and authentic.
